Farm Notes,

Give verbengs a rather rich but light soll if you wish to have vigorous plants producing an abundance of large trusses of flow-

Mrs. J. E. Parmly, of Monmouth county, N. J., tells the Country Centleman that the advantage of keeping clean, smooth bark on any tree is that there is no place for worms and insects. The operation of soaping should be gone through with about three times during the warm weather. Whenever the trunk and lower branches of any fruit tree are rough an application of some potash soap will bring the bark to its original smoothness. If the bark is very rough matters will be hastened somewhat by scraping. If the tree is pestered with any kind of enemies an application of this soap with a syringe will kill them if repeated often.

Make a harness fit properly and a horse can wear it without distress, provided that it is also kept decently clean and comfortably land that will maintain twenty common-bred cows will maintain twenty well-bred ones, and the annual profit from the latter will be considerably more than from the former.

Overladen fruit trees mature their fruit while it is yet small. Pick off one half before much growth is made, and the remaining half may grow to as many bushels as all would if left.

It is the same with an animal as with a steam-boiler-the more complete the combustion of the food or fuel it gets the more satisfactory will be the result, because there is less waste.

Resources of the soil do not end abruptly at four or live inches in depth, yet there are hundreds of farms where all beneath is terra incognita because no effort has ever been made to explore.

These points as to his method are given by a farmer who knows how to raise 400 bushels of potatoes to acre: rich, light soil; plow deep early in the spring; plant fifteen inches apart; cover four inches deep or more; keep down the weeds, but do not work the ground after potatoes begin to bloom. The main secret, he says, is in selecting the seed. He always cuts off the blossom end. One eye will yield more potatoes than two.

The time to pick duck feathers, like fruit, is when they are ripe. This may be learned by catching two or three and pulling a few feathers here and there. If they pull hard and the quills are filled List of Justices of the Peace and Townwith a bloody fluid they are not ripe; but if they pull easy and the quills are clear you may know that it is "the best time to pick." Ducks NAMES. may be picked four times a year. E. T. Horn, Never pluck the long tufts of coarse feathers on the sides that Fred Melizer, support the wings.

The Sweet Pepper (Clethra Alnifolia) is a neat, upright growing shrub, with light green leaves, fine white flowers, and has a delightful D. M. Kanode fragrance, It is a native of the New England States, and has for John Hansen, several years attracted the atten- P. J. Goodlive, tion of beekeepers as a shrub to furnish bees with honey at a time when flowers are scarce. It can be successfully transplanted, and will grow on all soits from gravelly toam to black peat, as well as time or slate soils.

Success in floriculture depends vastly more on the care bestowed | John C. Wolf, Charles Nunnemaker, on the plants than on a large amount of money expended, Yet for all this many people will yearly spend a great deal of money on Thos. Hutchinson, high-priced and rare plants, after- T. D. Woods, ward giving them no attention. A bed of geraniums, petunias, lantanas and other easily grown plants, if J. S. Moreland, well cared for, will be more satisfactory than rare plants which require the care and attention of an John S. Martin, expert gardener.

The Farm Journal advises that we sow rye, three pecks per acre, with the buckweat in June. It J. B. Rinson, will not make much growth, but T. J. Stump, will live until the buckwheat is P. M. Floyd, taken off, when it will soon make good fall pasture. Feed it off so J. B. Riason, that it does not make any attempt to head out or it will winter-kill, By judicious treatment a fair crop Benjamin Stevenson may be harvested next season. Seed with clover in the spring. Don't you see! You will have three crops with one preparation.

A community of small farms has many advantages which are not known where large farms are the rule. The forms are better cultivated and cared for, and the whole section bears a more thrifty appear. John E. Short, ance. Neighbors are nearer and generally of the most intelligent class, while roads are better, and A. W. Mauk, churches, school-houses, stores, and other conveniences necessary to the most advanced civilization are conveniently enjoyed,
